Calls For Showmanship To Win Fight Against TV In Toronto

Toronto: A stirring call for action and the use of the showmanship practised in the "old days" in the fight against TV competition was listened to by a rapt audience of Canadian exhibitors gathered at the Royal York Hotel last Tuesday night. Top officials of both Famous Players and Odeon, and a group of independents gathered to renew acquaintanceship with Abe Montague and Rube Jackter, general sales manager and assistant general sales manager of Columbia Picture up for a short business trip to Toronto.

The call for action was made by

Thank goodness that holiday week-end is over. I used to think it was hot in Arizona when I was living down there, but up in these parts, when you add the temperature and the humidity together, you get a figure that is astronomical in comparison to Arizona. I can't even report to you how show business was over the week-end; it was too hot to check. However, I do know that the Eglinton, Toronto, in its second week of W-B's "The Dam Busters", starring Richard Todd and Michael Redgrave, was packed Monday night. I was there, and it was lovely and cool, and incidentally, an exceptionally interesting picture.

Hold-overs through the Holiday were fairly common once again in Toronto, with Loew's in its third week of M-G-M's "Interrupted Melody", starring Glenn Ford and Eleanor Parker; Shea's in its 5th week, and second Holiday with 20th-Fox's "Seven Year Itch," starring Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell; while at Nat Taylor's International Cinema, the Rex Harrison comedy, "The Constant Husband" is in its 9th week, and at his Towne Cinema, U.A.'s "Marty", starring Ernest Borgnine, is in its 5th week.

Only new pictures opening through the Holiday were U.I.'s "The Purple Mask," starring Tony Curtis, at the Uptown; Warner Bros.' "The Sea Chase", starring John Wayne and Lana Turner, at the Imperial; and 20th-Fox's "How To Be Very, Very Popular", starring Betty Grable, Sheree North and Bob Cummings at Odeon's Carlton St. flagship and Fairlawn.

lowing which he went on to Ottawa to deliver a report of the Canadian Co-Op Project. During his short stay in Toronto, Mr. Mills paid The Digest a visit, and gave your editor a first-hand report on his recent coast-to-coast Canadian trip.

Also in Toronto recently was Charley Boasberg, vice-president in charge of sales for Distributors Corporation of America, but who, according to all reports, leaves DCA the end of this month, to take an important sales post with Paramount. Succeeding Boasberg at DCA is reported to be Arthur Sachson, former general sales manager for Samuel Goldwyn.

At the same time it is reported that the Fred Schwartz-headed company, which was formed last fall with 30 of the country's top independent circuits as shareholders, is now arranging new financing to go ahead with its ambitious production plans.

Schwartz, on the Coast for meetings with Geoffrey Shurlock, Production Code administrator, in connection with DCA's application for a code seal for "I Am A Camera", informed the press in an interview, that "Finian's Rainbow" will be completed in about three months, and that DCA will then proceed with its production of "The Viking" and "Lelia".

"I Am A Camera", incidentally, is having its world premiere this week at Walter Reade's Mayfair Theatre, Asbury Park, N.J., and its New York premiere August 8th, at the Little Carnegie Theatre, which paid a $75,000 cash advance for the picture with or without a Code Seal. The picture was passed by the N.Y. Censor Board with NO eliminations.

Abe Montague in what Leonard Brockington, President of Odeon Theatres aptly described "as one of the most clarifying talks ever heard in these parts on the subject of TV and our industry's fight against it." J. J. Fitzgibbons, President of Famous Players back from Hollywood for Famous Players regional meetings, introduced Mr. Montague.

Mr. Montague, recently returned from a 9-week trip to Europe praised the upsurge in the foreign market and their use of the showmanship "we used to use, when showmanship was something to be proud of." We have lost a lot of the technique of showmanship, he stated, because of the boom war period and "Europe seems to be taking hold where we left off."

In his description of the fight against TV competition in the US, Mr. Montague put part of the blame on the use of "old faces which could no longer bring out the people" and told about the new efforts "to stimulate the people to come out to the movies with some of the best of the old form of showmanship." He told about the increased use of heralds, one of the old stand-bys and the recently inaugurated "audience poll" to promote "new faces" as part of the movement that is gradually getting a bigger portion of the lost audience pried loose from their living-rooms.

Columbia for one, he stated, is producing a color reel publicizing the 17 "new faces" on its roster for use in theatres and is developing a series of 45 minute films for use on TV with part of the remaining 15 minutes devoted to selling its current product. The series will be called "Behind Columbia Screens."

He told the group to learn how to use TV and predicted that Canadian exhibitors would win the uphill fight against TV.

Hosts for the evening were Louis Rosenfeld, Harvey Harnick, Len Bernstein and Abe Cass.

Toronto Variety Tent No. 28 held a general meeting July 26 in the clubrooms when the principal item of business was the annual benefit baseball game at Maple Leaf Stadium between Toronto and Havana. Plus many outstanding features, in aid of Variety Village, the scheduled date being Monday night, Aug. 22. Murray Little reported on the added vaudeville attractions for the big money-raising event.

Candidates for regular membership in the Tent were approved as follows: J. B. Barron, Grand Theatre, Calgary; A. F. Waters, Toronto Radio Station CHUM, and L. D. Headley of the RCA-Victor Company Limited.

Arch H. Jolley of Toronto was sponsored for his speaking appearance before the Tillsonburg Rotary Club by Rotarian James Gamlin who is the manager of the Strand Theatre there, a Premier unit. The special guests at the gathering, which numbered 45 persons, included Bud Tondreau, projectionist at the Strand; Manager Morley McPhee, Strand, Simcoe; Manager Tom Cleever, Strand, Ingersoll, and Arthur Scott, proprietor of the Skylark Drive-In, Tillsonburg.

The subject of Jolley's address was, "The Importance of a Motion Picture Theatre to the Business Community".

An unusual step was taken at St. Catharines when the Lincoln Theatre, a unit of Famous Players, was completely shut down for joint staff vacations, the re-opening taking place Civic Holiday, Aug. 1, with all employees on their toes.

Jerry Collins of Toronto, Canadian publicity director for Loew's theatres, presided as relief manager at Loew's in London, Ont., during the vacation absence of Fred Jackson, manager of the theatre since it opened some 35 years ago.

The "Why Fry?" advertising display, showing the Eskimo and an Arctic igloo, created by the Famous Players' advertising department, has proved highly popular as an institutional heading for theatres around the circuit during the prolonged heat wave. It was used jointly in Toronto for the 15 F-P units here.

Winnipeg

The Manitoba Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association's 10th Annual Picnic, held at Maple Grove Beach, on Sunday, July 24th, was reported the best ever, with over 600 people attending. Eighteen-year-old Dolores Vipond of the Capitol Theatre was chosen over fifteen other candidates as the Bathing Beauty Queen. Eileen Yuel of the Beacon Theatre placed second, with third position going to Jean Dolenyk of the Starland Theatre.

Mr. L. H. Bradley of Moosomin, Sask., was a visitor to Film Row. P. W. Mahon of Prince Albert, is spending a few days in the city with his wife, who is convalescing after her recent operation.

A fire of unknown origin at noon Sunday, July 24th, destroyed the Rose-Mac Theatre in Langruth, Man., with damage amounting to about $35,000. The fire was noticed by a neighbor who saw smoke coming from the living quarters above the theatre. The building was erected in 1950 and taken over by Mr. and Mrs. Rose in 1952. The town's fire fighting equipment was not adequate to stop the blaze, and only the steel girders of the building were all that was left standing. Mr. and Mrs. Rose, who owned the building and operated the coffee shop in it, were away for the day. The building was almost fully covered by insurance.

Harvey Kornberg, U-A salesman out of Calgary, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Kornberg, St. Anthony Ave.

"Lust For Life" To Have Russian Footage

Hollywood: First evidence of the recent Big Four conferences in Geneva was noted in Hollywood last week when MGM Studios received assurances of Soviet Union cooperation in reproducing the art masterpieces of Vincent van Gogh for the film "Lust For Life."

Four of the world-famous paintings of van Gogh are in the Moscow Museum of Modern Art but they will be shown in this film production. The Soviet government will photograph them and deliver the film to MGM.

This unprecedented cooperation resulted from an exchange of correspondence between the studio and the Russian Embassy in Washington.

The four paintings involved are "The Red Harvest" — the only canvas which van Gogh sold during his lifetime — "Prison Courtyard," "Doctor Rey" and "Landscape at Auvers."

"Lust For Life" will star Kirk Douglas as the Dutch painter. Directed by Vincente Minnelli and produced by John Houseman, the production will start this week on location in France.

18 From Bel-Air To United Artists

New York: A new agreement providing for 18 feature motion pictures within the next two years has been concluded with Bel-Air Productions, headed by Aubrey Schenck and Howard W. Koch, it is announced by United Artists, which will release the extensive program of films, ten of which will be in color.

The first of the productions under the new schedule is "Three Bad Sisters," starring Marla English, Kathleen Hughes, and Sara Shane, with Jess Barker.

Next on the Bel-Air production program will be "Frontier Scout," starring singing star Tony Martin in his first straight-dramatic role.

Further productions on the schedule will be announced in the near future.

'Not As A Stranger' British Gala Opening

London: Members of the British royal family, diplomatic officials from four continents, world celebrities and a contingent of Hollywood stars and production leaders gathered at the Odeon Leicester Square Theatre Wednesday, July 27 for the glittering British premiere of Stanley Kramer's "Not As A Stranger."

Guests of honor at the royal performance of "Not As A Stranger" included Kramer, who produced and directed United Artists release, and Olivia de Havilland, Robert Mitchum, Gloria Grahame and Broderick Crawford, who are starred in the screen adaptation of Morton Thompson's best-selling novel.

The plush opening highlighting London's summer theatre season was beamed across Great Britain and the Continent by television and radio. It is expected that a large turnout of American tourists will join with thousands of Londoners in viewing the ceremonies at the Odeon.

Jimmy Stewart's Father Visits Saint John, New Brunswick

Saint John: A father, who was singing in the Presbyterian choir in Pennsylvania town, noted a disturbance in the front pew. A second look confirmed his worst fears. His small son had smuggled a very pliable monkey puppet into the Church, and was calmly entertaining all the other children within sight.

That, as far as is known was the first public performance by Jimmy Stewart of Hollywood, leading favorite with movie-goers everywhere, and veteran of many an outstanding film success.

Alexander M. Stewart, hardware merchant of Indiana, Penn. and father of Jimmy was visiting in Saint John with his wife, formerly Mrs. J. J. Stothart of this city.

The famous actor and his wife would have accompanied the elder Stewarts on their Saint John visit had he not been delayed in Africa, finishing the Hitchcock production "The Man Who Knew Too Much"

On his return, Jimmy expects to start to work in the title role of "The Lindbergh Story" — but his father and Mr. Stewart hope that he and Gloria will find time to accompany them to New Brunswick in the early Fall.

Tivoli, Hamilton Runs Special Morning Show

Hamilton: Manager Don Edwards of the Tivoli Theatre, Hamilton, featured a special morning show July 25 starting at 9:30 a.m., in co-operation with Radio Station CKOC, the program being called the CKOC Homemakers Holiday Show, to which was added a pre-engagement of "The Seven Year Itch," all for the adult admission price of 55c. Radio personalities appeared on stage and there were many prizes for patrons who also paid attention to the homemaking demonstrations.

Contract Talks On For Vancouver Booth Men

Vancouver: Projectionists and the two circuits are again working on a new contract. It as per usual will finish up with a government conciliation board. Circuits demand a cut in the wage scale and all theatres to be on a one-man in a booth basis. Theatres have a good case under present conditions.

Film Exports Up

Ottawa: Canadian exports of films increased to $1,821,000 in the first months of 1955, in contrast to $1,793,000 for the corresponding period of 1954, the Canadian Government reports.

Sullivan Toast's Fox's Holden and Jones Pix

New York: "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope production starring William Holden and Jennifer Jones, will receive a major, 2-way salute on Ed Sullivan's CBS-TV "Toast of the Town," on August 14, seen in Canada over CBC-TV.

The double-barrelled qudo to the Buddy Adler production will see "The Four Aces," one of the foremost recording groups in the country, singing the film's title song written by Sammy Fain and Paul Francis Webster. The quartet has recorded the new ballad for Decca Records.

Century, Hamilton Renovation Started

Toronto: Famous Players Canadian Corp. has temporarily closed the third theatre in Hamilton, Ont., for reconstruction. The latest in the face-lifting series is the Century which will re-open late in August with numerous improvements, according to manager Mel Jolley. Previously closed in the overhaul program at Hamilton were the Tivoli and Downtown Theatres in succession.

London: Above Us The Waves exceeded the wildest expectations at the box-office and is still shattering records on its general release in London, England.

The J. Arthur Rank production from Pinewood Studios packed out one London theatre which seats over 3,000 people and receipts show that in the past twelve months only two other films have had higher takings in the city.

It will be released during September, in Canada.

DRIVE IN OR DRIVE ON

The Gloucester Township Council in Eastern Ontario placed a ban on parking on the Cyrville Road for automobile drivers who made a habit of using the highway as a vantage point for viewing the programs on the screen of the Star-Top Drive-In near Cyrville. Reeve Earl Armstrong suggested that the motorists could now drive in or drive on.
